Forecast for Friday 09 Aug 2024

Weather: Strong to gale force west or southwest winds will drive showers across all parts, some of these heavy but fast moving. Although the morning will be largely cloudy, there will be increasing amounts of sunshine between showers, especially across the Cairngorms.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 40% improving to 70% through afternoon.

Low cloud and visibility: Cloud will be rather extensive and persistent through morning, likely covering all slopes above around 700m, with breaks in the east. Gradual improvement likely through the day with cloud eventually lifting of most summits by mid to late afternoon.
